Types of degrees in USA

US college degrees fall under four major categories:

Intakes in USA

Mainly there are two intakes in US Universities & Colleges:

Fall Intake (Aug/Sept) | Spring Intake (January)

Some colleges/universities are also having Summer (May) intake.

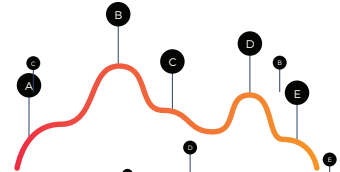

Required Tests :

For English Proficiency - IELTS or TOEFL

For Bachelor degree - SAT (Scholastic Aptitude Test) / ACT (American College Testing)

For Graduate degree - GRE (Graduate Record Examination)

For MBA - GMAT (Graduate Management Admission Test)

WORK DURING STUDY:

If you are studying on an F-1 visa, you may not accept off-campus employment during the first year of study. You may, however, take an on-campus job to fund the bills. You are limited to 20 hours a week while school is in session, provided that you do not displace a US resident. To work off campus students need to apply for a Curricular Practical Training (CPT). The job or internship needs to be directly related to your major.

Full time employment is allowed during vacations if you will be returning to school at the end of the vacation period. After graduation, US students often have a slightly easier chance of getting a job because of Optional Practical Training (OPT). Under OPT status, students are granted the privilege to work in the US for a year. Students in STEM fields such as Science, Technology, Engineering and Mathematics however are granted the opportunity to extend their OPT status by another 3 years.

COST OF EDUCATION IN USA

The tuition fee is different for different universities and varies widely with courses. It can vary from as low as $ 20000 a year for state universities to as much as $ 70000 per annum for some private universities.

For more specific details, please contact the Counsellors.

The living cost in USA is US$ 10000 to 12000 per annum.
